Next to an Approving Conscience.
A vigorous stomach is the greatest of mundane blessings. Sound digestion is a guaranty of quiet nerves, muscular elasticity, a hearty appetite and a regular habit of body. Though always a natural endowment, it may be acquired through the agency of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, one of the most effective invigorants and blood purifiers in existence. This fine tonic also fortifies those who use it against malaria, and remedies biliousness, constipation and rheumatism.

The sunny side of a city is where the residents get along only too well.

A Princess Lacks Half a Crown.

Many incidents in the early life of Queen Victoria are related in an article in "St. Nicholas," written by James Cassidy, and entitled "Girlhood Days of England's Queen." Mr. Cassidy says:

A certain story associated with Tunbridge Wells illustrates how sensibly she was treated. At a bazaar in that town the little girl had spent all her money—most unselfishly it must be admitted, for she had been buying presents for her friends. A pretty boy arrested her attention, and she said to her governess:

"How I should like to buy that box for so-and-so"—whom she mentioned by name—"but it is half a crown, and I've spent all my money!"

The saleswoman, saying, "That is of no consequence," proposed to enclose it with the other articles. The Baroness Lehzen objected, as the Princess was not allowed to buy upon credit, but only for ready money. The saleswoman immediately offered to put by the box for her, and this was gladly agreed to. It was quite early in the morning some time afterward, when the young Princess, mounted on a donkey, appeared at the shop. She had received her allowance, and had come to buy the coveted treasure!

Great Mountain Sheep.

The Great mountain sheep of Northern Asia is one of the wildest of animals. Furnished with extraordinarily keen sense of sight and smell, and affecting the most open ground at high altitudes, it is very difficult to approach within rifle shot. The best time to get a shot is at noon on a bright day, when the animals seek a secluded spot on the hill slope to sleep away the hot hours. The wind is then blowing up from the lower grounds, and the sportsman endeavors to get above the sheep, that his presence may not be betrayed to the animal's nose. The great difficulty is to reach a spot whence a shot can be obtained without being detected by the game. Once in a good position—say within a hundred and fifty yards—the beast offers an easy mark to one accustomed to judge distances in the deceptive mountain atmosphere, as an adult ram stands fully four feet at the shoulder, and often remains listening for a few moments after being disturbed by the report of the rifle. It gazes intently downward, having learned by experience that danger from its natural foes may be expected from below.

Strange Coffin.

A strange coffin, said to be intended for a British Admiral of the Fleet, is on exhibition at Liverpool. It is in the shape of a double-ended lifeboat, seven feet long, and painted with white portholes like an old-fashioned battleship. It is fitted with life lines, bars and a rudder, and is made seaworthy in every respect.

Danger in Bleaching.

The bleaching which gives such an attractive appearance to dried fruits renders it unhealthful. The fumes of the sulphur used in the process act upon zinc or galvanized iron trays holding the fruits, thus making the latter poisonous. Better be contented with the less attractive but more healthful, unbleached fruit.

A Great Disadvantage.

"I suppose," remarked the sarcastic housewife, "that in the course of time ice will be worth as much as diamonds."

"Well," replied the iceman, reflectively, "diamonds are pretty good in their way, but you can't rely on their melting down so as to keep up a steady demand." — Washington Star.

Tracing Him Up.

"The hotel," explained the clerk, "is in the hands of a receiver."

"Where can I find him?"

"Well, an hour ago he was receiving breakfast, shortly afterward he received three cocktails and in about ten minutes he'll be here to receive his salary. Take a chair!" — Atlanta Constitution.

HOUSEHOLD AFFAIRS.

Making Soups From Fruit.

Fruit soups are made from sweetened and thickened fruit juices, and can be made from currants, oranges, cranberries, and a mixture of currants and raspberries. Press sufficient fruit to make one pint of juice. Moisten a tablespoonful of arrowroot in a little cold water, add to it gradually a pint of boiling water; add sugar according to the nature of the fruit used. Let this puree stand a moment, then take from the fire and add the fruit juice. At serving-time fill a punch bowl half full of cracked ice, pour in the fruit soup and it is ready to serve. These fruit soups are usually served at the beginning of a company luncheon. — Mrs. S. T. Rorer, in Ladies' Home Journal.

Caramel Custard.

Custard, smoothly baked, with four tablespoonfuls of caramel for flavoring, when served icy cold, is very grateful on a warm day. Little or no sugar besides the caramel will be needed. Bring the milk to boiling point in the double boiler; use when cool and there will be no danger of the custard breaking into whey in the oven, but, after one-half hour's baking in a moderate oven it should, when cold, be served out in slices smooth and shining as a stone lapped by many waters. Allow four well-beaten eggs to one quart of milk; add the caramel, taste and stir in more sugar if not sufficiently sweet. The caramel should be kept on hand ready for use, and is made by stirring over the fire one cup of granulated sugar until it turns black; while it is smoking and boiling stir in one cup of boiling water, boil for a minute or two and when cool it is ready to bottle. — Home Queen.

Sauer-Braten.

Select a piece of beef of four pounds from the sirloin or rump. Cut half a pound larding pork into finger-thick strips. Chop fine one onion. Mix it with one tablespoonful salt, half tablespoonful pepper, one-quarter teaspoonful allspice. Make incisions one inch apart in the meat with a pointed knife. Roll the pork strips separately in the onion mixture, put one into each incision, rub the remaining seasoning all over the meat. Tie it into a round shape. Place the meat into a bowl. Mix one pint of strong vinegar with half pint of water; pour it over the meat. Add two onions cut into slices, six cloves, two bay leaves and twelve whole peppers. Cover and set in a cool place for three days, turning the meat every day with a fork. When ready to cook put the meat into a roasting pan, add the vinegar, spice, onion and two tablespoonfuls sugar. Set in hot oven and roast till done, about two and a half hours, basting frequently. Shortly before serving lay the meat on a hot dish, but remove the string. Take off all the fat from the gravy, mix one tablespoonful corn starch with half cup cold water, add it to the gravy, and cook a few minutes on top of the stove. Add sufficient boiling water to make a creamy sauce, cook three minutes, then strain. Pour a few spoonfuls of gravy over the meat and serve the remaining gravy in a sauce bowl.

Potato Cooking.

The potato is the vegetable that taxes the skill of the young cook to the utmost. Why it should be so I cannot say, but the majority of cooks make lamentable failures with the potato. Even in such a simple matter as the serving of whole roasted potatoes for a light supper (quite a fashionable dish at present) they fail from lack of the necessary experimentation, without which no cook can keep up with the procession of good cooks. They put the potatoes in the hottest oven, wet from the washing they have had, and in half to three-quarters of an hour take them out and serve, and wonder why most of them come back on the plates merely nibbled at. Try this way: Take potatoes of moderate size, clean them with a stiff brush, using no water. If wanted for a supper at, say 5 o'clock, put them in the warming closet of your range, not too near the pipe, at 8 o'clock in the morning. Turn them frequently during the day, and as soon as a splint will go through one and come out dry, they are done, and can be kept in good condition for an hour by removing them to a cooler place. Potatoes roasted thus will absorb butter readily, which is the best of a well-roasted potato. To serve them, use covered egg cups. Rub the inside of the cups with melted butter, take off the skins of potatoes, and fill the cups with the pulp, putting a good-sized piece of butter, and a pinch of salt, and a dash of white pepper on top. Set the cups in the hot oven for ten minutes. Serve with broiled steak or chops. — Home Magazine.

The road to fame is full of quicksands, ravines and mountains.

Maple Syrup.

Attention is called to the Maple Syrup advertisement in this paper, which has the endorsement of Governor Taylor of Tennessee, Rev. Sam Jones and others. This syrup with the sugar made from it has been manufactured and sold by a company extensively through the wholesale and retail trade, but it ran too high for the people by passing through so many hands. It is now proposed to let the people have the formula and make it at first cost, and they will make a mistake if they do not take hold of it. It has been pronounced equal to the "ony pure old Vermont" which sells at $1.30 per gallon.

NATURE'S MODERATION.

The human constitution is very much like a fire, and the way a careless kitchen girl looks after the cooking-stove. One minute it is raging red-hot, and then suddenly, first thing you know, the fire is out. People are sometimes led to believe that a medicine which has a sudden, tremendous effect must be truly wonderful. They forget that it may be merely a tremendous "draught" which imparts a temporary false effect of brightness and "fire" to the system, but suddenly drops it lower than before. There is no sudden overwhelming effect about Ripans Tablets. Some people think the prescribed dose is too slow, and double it to get a quicker effect. But nature herself is slow, moderate and regular in accomplishing her best work. The Tablets relieve acute headaches, indigestion and nervous depression almost instantly. But their effect on the bowels is more gradual; yet it is sure and thorough. Ripans Tablets act in accordance with nature, and their results like nature's are complete and permanent.

A new style packet containing THE RIPAN TABLETS in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores for five cents. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (72 tablets) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 18 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (72 tablets) will be sent for five cents.

WEIGHTY WORDS FOR Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
"I lost my wife and two children from the effects of hereditary scrofula. My third child was dangerously affected with scrofula. He was unable to walk, his left foot being covered with running sores. Physicians having failed to relieve the others of my family, I decided to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I am pleased to say the trial was successful, and my boy was restored to health. I am confident that my child would have died had he not used Ayer's Sarsaparilla." — JAS. M. DYE, Mintonville, Ky., Aug. 5, 1885.
